This week is National Volunteer Week, an opportunity to stop and say thank you to all of the generous volunteers across our community who give their time freely and work tirelessly to help others. Whether it be at sporting clubs, op-shops or care facilities, volunteers are the backbone of our community and their contributions are invaluable. Ideas on how you can volunteer your time across Manningham can be found on page 9.

Extending that spirit of helping others across Manningham, the National Youth Mental Health Foundation, headspace, has brought their youth outreach program to our community. Last year’s Mayoral Ball helped us raise funds to introduce headspace Hawthorn’s mental health services and support locally.

In Manningham, we want to provide the best health services available, especially for our younger community.

headspace has years of excellent work behind them, helping to reduce the stigma around mental health issues and supporting young people and their families. They’ll be a welcome addition to our existing mental health services that are already doing a fantastic job in serving the community. See page 10 for more information about headspace.

Serving the community in another sense, construction is almost complete on Mullum Mullum Stadium. This massive project will provide the eastern region with a new sporting hub and offer state-of-the-art facilities to help meet the growing needs in highball sports.

Mullum Mullum Stadium is a major gain for the area, offering a dedicated space to meet and get active.

The Stadium has been designed with sustainable features that will help us protect the environment and save money in the long run. Find out more on page 4.

Groups from St Gregory the Great visited Manningham Council in March to learn about belonging, in particular the work Council does for our local community.
Students met the Mayor, Cr Andrew Conlon and got an overview of Council activities before visiting the community gardens, art studio and library.
Our residents enjoy their indoor sports. Many local clubs and associations are at capacity and have long waiting lists, and sports such as basketball, netball, futsal (indoor soccer), volleyball and table tennis find themselves without enough access to courts.

The almost completed Mullum Mullum Stadium will help meet this problem head-on by providing a new regional multi-use sporting facility when completed.

Located at Mullum Mullum Reserve in Donvale, the stadium will be one of the largest community facilities in Melbourne’s east.

With five courts and seating for up to 500 spectators, it’s a place that can bring people together all year round to connect, be active, achieve and dream big.

The stadium will meet national competition standards for a range of sports including basketball, netball and table tennis. It will also cater for volleyball, futsal and indoor fitness as well as skills training sessions for sports such as football, cricket, soccer and rugby.

Providing access for all-abilities, all ages, cultural groups, and boosting the opportunities for female participation in sport.

It is estimated that the stadium will cater for about 100,000 users annually.

Manningham Mayor, Cr Andrew Conlon, said: “This is an exciting project. It will be a stadium that connects athletes, spectators and the wider community as it meets national standards for local and surrounding sporting clubs.”
STADIUM-SIZED SUSTAINABILITY

Mullum Mullum Stadium is 6,000m² of sustainable features, and once in operation, it will boast some impressive figures.

- 1,330 solar panels will help power the stadium
- 450kW system will provide cumulative savings of $2.2 million over the 25 year life cycle*
- The facility will provide almost 18 million kilograms of CO₂ savings out of the atmosphere over the system’s life
- This also equates to 3,250 vehicles off our roads or powering 3,125 homes.

* From the combined demand charge offset and large scale generation certificates (indicated by independent modelling).

ENVIRONMENTALLY AND ECONOMICALLY FRIENDLY

Mullum Mullum Stadium is changing the game with sustainable design a key feature of this facility.

With cutting edge solar technology and sustainable water use forming part of its design, the stadium gets a big tick for its sustainable environmental innovations throughout the building.

We have designed the stadium with the future in mind, from a community, economic and sustainability point of view.

Through innovative design and maximising opportunities for environmental sustainability, such as installing a 450kW solar system, we can meet the energy needs of this new premier regional multi-sports complex.

“This solar system will ensure a renewable energy source for Mullum Mullum Stadium and is expected to deliver significant annual savings in electricity costs, with excess power generated by the solar panels to be pumped into the mains electricity grid,” said Manningham CEO, Mr Warwick Winn.

Hearth and Culture

The mercury may have dropped but there is still so much to do in Manningham this winter. Stay indoors and keep warm with a dose of the local arts and culture scene.

DONCASTER PLAYHOUSE

Rather than slipping into hibernation, seek shelter from the cold in one of our galleries or catch a show at the Doncaster Playhouse.

Behind its striking heritage façade, the Doncaster Playhouse is a modern hub of local arts and culture, hosting old and new talent as they tread the boards and bring stories to life on the stage.

Constructed in 1863, the Playhouse started life as the local area’s first primary school. More than a century later in 1988 and having outgrown its original use, the Playhouse underwent refurbishment to become the heart of community theatre.

Since opening, this small studio theatre has become home to a growing number of local theatre companies. Perfect for a date night or evening out, the Playhouse is a lively, vibrant venue. Most months will see a run of local productions from its theatre companies, both original and classic. Recent productions include Ghost – the Musical (based on the major motion picture), Lost in Venice and Jack and the Beanstalk.

The Playhouse has seen touring shows, cabarets, musicals, musicians and more tread the stage, giving community members a chance to engage with arts and culture.

Manningham Art Studios Tutor Profile - Kathy Heyward

Kathy Heyward has been an arts educator for over 15 years, 9 of which have been spent engaging both children and adults in the arts here in Manningham as a tutor at the Art Studios.

A skilled printmaker, woodworker and crafter, Kathy has worked with the ABC in children’s programming, curated an arts festival, and worked with local students developing the public art in Doncaster Reserve.

Kathy’s message to her students is that there is no ‘correct’ when it comes to art, instead art is about finding your passion and having fun in the process.
NOW AND NOW

Wednesday 23 May to Saturday 30 June

Manningham’s annual exhibition is celebrating National Reconciliation Week.

This year’s exhibition explores the relationships of the First Nation’s timeless knowledge and practices and the restorative processes of the natural world.

For the artists, Adam Ridgeway and Hayley Millar-Baker, as changes to the natural systems and environments continue world-wide, it is important to ask whether our principles for living in harmony with Country match our practices on it.

RECONCILIATION ADVOCATE RECEIVES KEY TO THE CITY

Templestowe local Dr Jim Poulter hardly needed any more accolades stemming from a lifetime contributing to the reconciliation movement, but on Tuesday 24 April Manningham Council presented him with one more: the Key to the City.

“I am humbled and honoured that Council has chosen to recognise me by giving me the Key to the City,” Jim said.

Jim comes from a family history of working with the Aboriginal community and has himself made a significant contribution, working with the Wurundjeri Tribe Council and Koorie Heritage Trust and producing educational materials on Aboriginal history and cultural practices.

Manningham Mayor Cr Andrew Conlon said it’s a privilege to award the Key to the City to such a worthy recipient.

“Dr Poulter was nominated for his contribution to Reconciliation Manningham and as a member of the Manningham University of the Third Age. We are honouring his lifetime of service to our City and State.”

Jim was also a founding board member of Doncare and the Manningham Community Health Centre.

Since retirement, Jim continues to contribute to the community, giving more than 50 talks each year on Aboriginal history and heritage as well as conducting regular history walks along the Yarra in Manningham.

MARLENE GILSON, WILLIAM BUCKLEY MEETS THE LANDING PARTY AT INDENTED HEAD

Featured in the Reconciliation Week exhibition ‘Badjur-Bagarook-Yorga-Woman,’ and acquired for the Manningham Art Collection in 2017, Wathaurong artist, Marlene Gilson’s William Buckley meets the landing party at Indented Head is a beguiling image of the moment that surveyor John Wedge and his party discovered the escaped convict living with the Wathaurong tribe in 1835.

Manningham celebrates our wonderful volunteers this National Volunteer Week

National Volunteer Week is held each May to celebrate the generous contribution of Australia’s volunteers. This year’s theme is “Give a little. Change a lot”, to acknowledge the millions of volunteers making significant impacts in their community and on society by giving a little of their time. Research shows that volunteers are generally healthier, happier and live longer. Here are just a few volunteering opportunities in Manningham:

Jumping Creek Road Upgrade
Providing an important link within Manningham, Jumping Creek Road will be progressively upgraded to improve safety and accommodate the forecasted increase in traffic.

Due to requirements for further environmental assessments and a planning permit, construction of Stage 1A (Ringwood-Warrandyte Road to Nelson Drive) has been delayed and is now anticipated to commence in late 2018, subject to planning approval.

Once submitted in mid-2018, the planning permit application will be advertised and the community will be invited to comment.

Getting in the Right headspace

Making the transition into adulthood is never easy. For young people and their families, accessing early intervention for mental health support can be an important step in helping to prevent mental health issues from escalating.

As Australia’s National Youth Mental Health Foundation, headspace has provided thousands of young people with early intervention mental health services and support since it was founded in 2006.

Now, with the help of fundraising from last year’s Mayoral Ball, Manningham City Council has worked with headspace Hawthorn and YMCA Manningham Youth Services to bring the outreach service to the local area.

headspace is available to young people aged 12 to 25 and their families, and focuses on four core areas including: mental health, physical health, work and study support as well as alcohol and other drug services.

The headspace outreach service will operate out of MC2, offering intake sessions, generalist counselling sessions and sessions under a mental health care plan (Medicare). The headspace service will also offer support to schools, and parents, through targeted groups such as Tuning into Teens and SafeMinds as well as community engagement activities.

Manningham’s headspace outreach service will be available soon. To make a referral (either for yourself, a friend or your child) to headspace or talk about anything that is of concern, please contact headspace Hawthorn.

Headspace Hawthorn is open from Monday 10.30am to 6.00pm and Tuesday to Friday 10.00am to 6.00pm.

REMEMBERING THE BATTLES AT CORAL-BALMORAL

In 1966, two twenty year old lads were among those summoned for duty in the Vietnam War.

Manningham residents John Sheehan and Paul McCrohan OAM join Council in honouring Vietnam Veterans and commemorating the 50th Anniversary of Coral-Balmoral.

The Battle of Coral-Balmoral was the biggest, bloodiest and most protracted battle of the Vietnam War – yet few Australians have heard of it. John, an Armoured Personnel Carrier driver, still has vivid memories of his time during the battle.

“I am still amazed I was never taken out by a landmine,” John said. “We were all very scared.”

Twenty-six soldiers were killed and more than 100 wounded in seven hard-fought close encounters around the firebases of Coral and Balmoral, 40km northeast of Saigon. For John and Paul, the war did not end when they returned to Australia.

“We never got the opportunity to speak about what happened and it affected our ability to assimilate back into society,” John said.

“Manningham Council is helping Vietnam Veterans by giving us a voice to tell our stories and giving the community an insight into what happened.”

Visit the memorabilia display and hear from veterans at the Manningham Civic Centre between 28 May to 1 June. For booking enquiries or more information, please call 9840 9304.
